Again in 2008, invitations were sent out to attend an architects' lunch during the furniture fair in Cologne in January. Star chef Susanne Vössing and her team cooked and served an invited selection of architects, culturally creative people and representatives of companies in an exquisite atmosphere. A long dining table for over 100 guests zig-zagged through the room, which had been designed by Marie-Thérèse Vu. For seating, olé chairs were used. The special "velvet" decoration underlined the homely but sensual character of the venue..
